TV Is Health Hazard, Says Australian Study

By Ross Andrews

CANBERRA, Australia (Reuters)--Television is a health hazard, according to a study published by researchers in the Australian National University Center for Continuing Education.

In the 213-page study, the authors, senior research fellow Dr. Fred Emery, and his wife, Merrelyn, said regular television viewing could cause social breakdown, and alienation of the individual from himself and society. It may even result in a state resembling severe brain damage in the viewer.

The researchers described the effects of television as "pack rape of the masses" by the bureaucracy. "Television produces a state of habituation which resembles the destruction of important brain structures," the study said. "Television is used by people who wish to escape from their own psychological problems and who are the least concerned with the outside world."

"It isolates the viewer from the real world. A viewer can still be out of touch with the real world for some time after the television is switched off."

"One of the long-term consequences of regular television viewing will be an increase in impulsive, and, most probably, aggressive behavior on the part of the viewer."

"Television may be depriving people of a human biological necessity--dreaming. At least, it is distorting the dream cycle. Dream deprivation has profound psychological effects, among them the lowering of self-esteem, a confused sense of identity, narcissism, and momentary forgetfulness."

The study warns that television must not become a major educative tool because it neither instructs nor enlightens.

It questioned whether the effects of television, particularly color, may be the cause of the increasing use of tranquilizers and barbituates, and the increasing number of hyperactive children.

The individual withdraws all responsibility for society and even loses touch with his own nature.

But the study suggests that television could have one far-reaching beneficial effect on society. Television has broken down man's long-standing taboo of looking into others' faces and eyes--the taboo responsible for man's inbuilt fear of being shamed and humiliated and by which those in authority and institutions control their subordinates.

With this taboo now eroded by television, the study claimed people are freer to question and challenge bureaucratic control and the existing codes of society--and to live as they please.

The study said this is the reason why young and old came out into the streets to protest about Vietnam and other social issues.

Summing up their study, the authors said:

"For a very large part of the next 30 years we will have to cope with the dragon's teeth already sown. Our concern will not be with what new technologies might do, but with what they have already done."

"In a situation like this no person or corporate body, public or private, should bring yet another technical medium into existence, nor upgrade any existing media on the grounds that it would be more of the same, only cheaper and better."

Dr. Emery, known internationally among academics, was in charge of a mass-communications project studying the effects of televised violence in the audio-visual aid department of Melbourne University in 1965 and 1967 and worked in commercial television in Britain and the United States for 11 years.

Asked if she watched television often, Mrs. Emery replied she didn't because her life was too interesting.

Milam-Areans Wagons Begin Long Trek

ROCKDALE

A two-wagon train began its nine-month trek to Valley Forge, Pa., at 10 a.m. Friday by parading through Lexington. The wagon train was organized by trail boss Lawrence Watson, a rancher who runs the Texas-Bar-Six operation near Tanglewood, as part of the nation's bicentennial celebration. The train will be joined by others on its way to Valley Forge and expects to reach that spot by July 4, 1976.

Screwworm Hot Spot Develops

CALDWELL

A screwworm hot spot has developed in Burleson County and the county agent said last Tuesday that things could get out of hand if caution is not observed. He said that some 15 cases of screwworms have been reported in past week in an area along and three miles either side of a line running down Highway 21 from Caldwell to the Lee County line at the Yegua Creek.

Highway Gets Sweet Coat

SOMERVILLE

Fredrick B. Priesmeyer of Somerville escaped a very "sticky" situation last week when his car collided with a large truck-tractor carrying molasses. The truck turned over and dumped some 73,000 pounds of syrup on the highway. Brenham firemen and Texas Highway Department officials assisted in clearing the highway of the sticky substance.

Fracas Mars Opening Game

BELTON

Belton police and a Bell County constable are nearing the end of an investigation into a fracas after Friday night's opening football game and to date several charges have been filed in connection with the incident. The constable filed four complaints of disorderly conduct on several people, including students and said more may be filed after further investigation.

Pocketbooks To Hurt

GEORGETOWN

Electric and natural gas rates will hit Georgetown consumers where it hurts -- in the pocketbook -- again next month, Lone Star Gas Co. will raise its rates by 19.8 cents per thousand cubic feet on its next billing, and the city will add 85 percent of base rate onto October electric bills, after city council approval of both increases.

Temperatures Match Chili

THORNDALE

With September temperatures matching the hottest chili, a record turnout attended the Thorndale Chamber of Commerce sponsored Chili Cookoff Sunday. Hundreds of people from the Central Texas area turned out for the chili cooking exhibits, the games, music, and refreshments.

Guard Unit Wins Trophy

GATESVILLE

Gatesville's National Guard company, long a top-rated outfit and one of the community's prized assets, has been acclaimed as the state's best unit or 1974. In Sunday afternoon ceremonies at the local armory, the Gatesville unit--Company D of the 949th Maintenance Battalion, 49th Armored Division--was presented the coveted Eisenhower Trophy, awarded annually to the most proficient company in the Texas Army National Guard.

Ground Fault Cracks Dam

ROSEBUD

Just one year ago the city of Rosebud spent some $60,117 on repair to the city lake dam and now the old ground fault is taking over again, and it is cracking and sinking and sliding. A preliminary figure of $50,000 has been estimated as the cost of repairs. The place of the present cracking is located nearby where an old creek bed was.

BRAZOS QUEEN is a new tourist attraction for the Waco area. It is a replica of a real old-time riverboat of the 1880s and sails the scenic Brazos River with four excursions daily. The boat stops at scenic and historic spots along the Brazos as it cruises along.

Cotton Oil Mill At Thorndale Seeking Capital

W. D. Reeves, president of the Cen-Tex Oil Mill at Thorndale, urges any farmer, rancher, or businessman with money to invest to buy preferred stock now being offered by the cotton oil mill.

"We have the money committed to buy the mill and cottonseed," said Reeves, "but we need additional money as working capital."

Reeves said investors would receive preferred stock in the corporation which will pay a seven percent dividend.

"We need the additional capital within the next few days," said Reeves. Those interested are urged to go by the mill and talk with Reeves or mill manager John Stiles.

The Cen-Tex Cotton Oil Mill is presently undergoing reorganization following its default on notes to the Houston Bank of Cooperatives in July.

Lions To Host Alcoa Officials

Fred Bergeron and Hal Reagan of Rockdale's Alcoa Works will visit with the Cameron Noon Lions Club Monday, September 15 at 12 noon at The Texan Restaurant in Cameron.

Bergeron is expected to discuss the present economic status of the Rockdale works in addition to other topics. Rudy Mikeska of Taylor will continue to cater barbecue luncheons for the Noon Lions until other eating arrangements can be made.

Old-Time Riverboat Cruising The Brazos

Although a business venture, Paul McClinton and the other owners of the Brazos Queen, consider it a real deal more -- a major investment in the Waco area. Not only are they offering a chance to enjoy unique entertainment, fine food, and great recreation, but the Brazos Queen will be a tourist attraction unrivaled in the Southwest.

A replica of the old time riverboats of the 1880s the Brazos Queen was designed and built by John Louck of West Bend, Wisconsin, a licensed riverboat captain.

Approximately 40 tons of steel went into the construction of the two-deck vessel. Only the two paddle wheels are wooden. Measuring 12 feet in diameter and 16 feet in width, they are powered by two 380 cubic foot diesel engines. A third engine will provide the boat's electrical power.

The first level of the boat is honey-combed for added strength. Five airtight compartments were built into the boat so that even if damaged, it will not sink.

Despite her tremendous weight, the Brazos Queen will displace only about two feet of water. This will make it possible to sail her up the Bosque and the Steinbeck Bend area of the Bosque as well as the regular excursion run between Baylor Marina and McLennan Community College Marina.

The top deck, surrounded by a gingerbread railing and holding the captain's house, is not enclosed for those who enjoy the open air.

The enclosed lower deck is heated and air conditioned for year round operation. A little more than 100 feet long and 22 feet wide, the Brazos Queen has an excursion capacity of 200 persons.

The lower deck salon with its carved wood panelling, ornate bar, parquet dance floor, and 1880s styled furnishings is a relaxing and beautiful setting for any social affair or business meeting.

For those who simply want to relax and enjoy sailing the scenic Brazos River, there will be four excursions daily. Two each morning and evening. Each trip will be from 1 1/2 to 2 hours, with stops at Carver Park, East Terrace, Ft. Fisher, and other historic areas along the Brazos.

The price of the trip will be $1.50 for adults and $.75 for children. A variety of drinks and snacks will be available for those making the excursion trips.

Entries Invited For Crafts Show

The second annual Arts and Crafts Show will be held on October 11 at the City Park in Cameron. Anyone interested in showing and selling arts and crafts is asked to call the Chamber of Commerce at 65-2541.

Those who would like to help with the Cake Walk by contributing pastries are also asked to call the Chamber. The Cake Walk will be held at 10:30 a.m. Pastries will be picked up.

All proceeds will go toward the Milam County Museum.

Comptroller Views Oil Decontrol As Costly

AUSTIN

Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that federal decontrol of oil prices will cost Texans many times more than it will produce for the state treasury.

Bullock forecast that decontrol would cost Texas consumers during the next year $625 million in higher gasoline prices and yield only $170 million to the state in additional tax revenues.

"A poor trade," Bullock said. Bullock said that "the mammoth tax bill Texas faces in 1977 might be dented but it won't be knocked out by increased oil tax income."

Bullock said his projection on consumer gasoline costs were based on an eight-cent a gallon price rise "as a compromise between the three cents the Ford Administration talks about and the 15 cents it could be."

He said the oil estimates were based on oil prices of $10.50 a barrel.

The estimate foresees only a slight decrease in consumption with an eight-cent price increase, Bullock said. He said that higher oil prices would increase market values for production tax purposes worth $154 million and that "a rippling effect" on franchise taxes, sales taxes, utility taxes, and state oil lands royalty earnings would bring in another $16 million during the coming year.

"But whether it's additional taxes or additional gasoline prices, it all comes out of the same pocket--and you know whose pocket that is," Bullock said.

Bullock said that the impact of any new exploration for Texas oil--the industry's reasoning for decontrol--"remains to be seen."

Postal Rates Changes Told

Some changes in postal rates took effect Sunday, Sept. 14, and were outlined by Postmaster Henry Litzman.

Rates for first class mail are still 10 cents for the first ounce and 9 cents for each additional ounce, up to 13 ounces.

Post cards have been reduced to 7 cents from 8 cents each. Air mail is unchanged at 13 cents per ounce.

Litzman said priority mail rates will remain the same on first class mail over 13 ounces and air mail over 9 ounces.

Vesting A President

Well, another American president almost got shot or shot at. So Gerald Ford now wears a bulletproof vest.

Well, the Fromme gal said she never meant to shoot anybody, just because she pointed a .45 at the President's head.

Reports indicate she is concerned about the California Redwoods, a magnificent species of tree, and somehow relates the presidency to responsibility for saving Redwoods, cutting them down, whatever.

Mr. Ford wears a bulletproof vest. The threat of instant death goes with the presidential territory just like all the momentous problems laid at the White House door.

Ms., Mrs., or Miss Fromme is or was one of the Manson family. It doesn't much matter, incidentally, how she titles herself. It's waving a .45 that gets her permanent attention and curiosity.

Let's see: Kennedy, Kennedy, King, and Wallace shot and now Ford added to Nixon and Johnson and yet another Kennedy whose lives were frequently threatened.

Quite a territory. And fascinating logic! Shoot a president and solve all our problems. It's ridiculous of course, but a part of reality for presidents who might have to take an LSD trip to understand what is happening.

Ms. Fromme establishes one precedent. She put a new bulge underneath the presidential suitcoat. Her thing about guns is old stuff.

Indescribable 'It'...

"If ever you have the chance," the elder advised, "and you want disparate peoples to understand and follow, put 'it' high enough for everybody to see."

'It' can be almost anything, the younger learns. But there is only one place all can look to from the flat. And that is beyond a dimension or even a place.

It well may be an apparition, but it is a point in time in agreement, a voluntary and singular assessment that says: "Yes, this 'it' is good."

'It' is mysterious, but curiously when 'it' happens is easily understood.

There is a phrase used both by younger and elder, one everybody uses: "You know what I mean."

That is the indescribable 'it.'

Assassination Try Poses Questions Of Security

By Robert Trautman

WASHINGTON
Reuter--A nation which went into shock almost 12 years ago when a bullet robbed it of a popular president almost suffered the same trauma Sept. 5.

And the attempted assassination of Gerald Ford once again raises a basic question of American political life--how available, how public can a politician be in this democracy and still be safe? Every president sets the degree of the personal security he wants and because presidents are political animals, the security they want is often light, much to the chagrin of the Secret Service which must protect the president at all costs.

The often-opposite views of "cover"--to the Secret Service, protection from harm, but to the president, isolation from the public--was brought sharply into focus at mid-morning on Friday in Sacramento, California.

That was when President Ford, with what appeared to be his usual Secret Service protection, strolled through a group of bystanders as he walked toward the California state capitol to deliver a talk on crime.

A woman forced her way through the crowd toward the president and brandished a .45 calibre pistol which she thrust within three feet of Mr. Ford.

A Secret Service agent accompanying the president spotted the armed woman, disarmed her and wrestled her to the ground; other agents rushed the president away to safety.

Although Mr. Ford was not hurt, the immediate after shock was that the security around him, which had seemed to observers, to have been relaxed in recent years, was quickly reinforced.

Later that day he bypassed crowds he might otherwise have greeted with handshakes.

Buses were positioned to shield him from unscreened crowds; and when he boarded Air Force One for the return trip to Washington, the bullet-proof limousine which brought him to the plane pulled up closer than usual to the jet's entrance.

But President Ford, shortly after the alleged attempt on his life, pledged he would continue his hectic pace of public travels and public appearances.

"This incident under no circumstances will prevent me or preclude me from contacting the American people as I travel from one state to another and from one community to another," he said.

Mr. Ford continued, "It is vitally important for a president to see the American people, and I am going to continue to have that personal contact and relationship with the American people. I think it is vital and I intend to carry it out."

He was in Maine and Rhode Island recently. He was also in Washington State, Oregon, and California. He now plans to visit New Hampshire, Missouri, and Texas.

The Secret Service, though, would have it otherwise.

Its agents assigned to protect the president--the number is secret--would prefer that Mr. Ford confine his activities to Washington, and if he must travel, to stay within confined premises, such as a hotel reception or dinner where guests can be screened.

The fear of assassination, and the fate of President Kennedy in Dallas almost 12 years ago, strikes them when the president rides in a motorcade, addresses an open-air crowd or, worse still, unexpectedly wades into a crowd of people to shake hands.

Aid Increase Scheduled For Veterans

Checks ranging from $3 to $174 will be mailed in September to 2.2 million disabled veterans and 320,000 dependents who qualify for increases in their disability compensation and dependency and indemnity compensation signed into law by President Ford on August 5.

Jack Coker, director, VA Regional Office, said the increases of 10 to 12 percent were effective August 1, but the change came too late to be incorporated in the checks to be mailed at the end of August.

A separate check for the amount of the increase will be mailed to beneficiaries during September, he said. The new rates will be reflected in checks to be mailed at the end of September and in all subsequent monthly checks. Total cost of the increases for the first year is $450 million.

Coker emphasized that no application or inquiry is necessary. The increases will be made automatically by the agency, he explained. Veterans with a 50 percent or less disability rating received a 10 percent increase in their monthly payments. Veterans with a greater disability rating and DIC beneficiaries received a 12 percent increase under the new law.

Burma Rebuilds Historic Temples

By Zaw Win

RAGOON
Reuter--Burma has started to rebuild historic temples and shrines damaged in a major cultural catastrophe at the ancient Burmese capital of Pagan.

The disaster occurred last month when, almost unnoticed by the outside world, an earthquake struck one of the most hauntingly beautiful spots in Asia.

Historic pagodas that had survived even the rampages of Kubila Khan's Chinese tartar armies in the 13th century crashed and fell after the quake, which lasted less than two minutes last July 8.

One of the artistic landmarks of Asia had suffered what may prove irreparable damage to some of its treasures. Pagan was found in 850 and by the 11th century had developed into the capital of Burma.

Its 5,000 Buddhist temples and ruins, mostly dating from the ninth to 11th centuries are spread over a 16 square mile area on the east bank of the Irrawaddy River in the plains of central Asia.

Of the 500 important temples more than half have been damaged.

Technical experts who visited Pagan to assess the damage feel that at least two years will be needed to restore the temples to something approaching their former splendor.

Some of the beautiful frieze work and frescoes which crashed to the ground can never be restored.

The famous Ananda Temple, one of the finest examples of Burmese architecture, has lost its spire.

The five-story Lhabyinnyu Temple, built in 1144, has lost not only its spire but also sections of the wall and most of its corner stupas.

A crack has appeared in the massive ninth century Tharaba Gate in the ancient Pagan wall.

The experts have listed 20 priority edifices which will get urgent attention before the peak monsoon hits central Burma in September and October. They fear that monsoon rain could cause further serious damage to the ruined or cracked temples.

Not all that has been lost was original work of Pagan architecture and art. The topped hti (umbrella) and corner stupas of the grand Ananda Temple, for instance, were 18th century additions to the original temple, which is still very firm and strong.

Pagan, fortunately, has been studied and recorded in meticulous detail by generations of archaeologists and scholars.

The Burmese archaeology department has maintained records of its since 1890.

More recently architects and graduate students from the Rangoon Institute of Technology retraced designs and took measurements of the ancient temples.

These records and research will prove invaluable in the restoration program.

The temples and the cultural contents of Pagan are a valuable source of historical information for scholars, archaeologists, and of late, tourists.

Pagan was the center of a fabulous kingdom, and the explorer Marco Polo was among those impressed by its splendor.

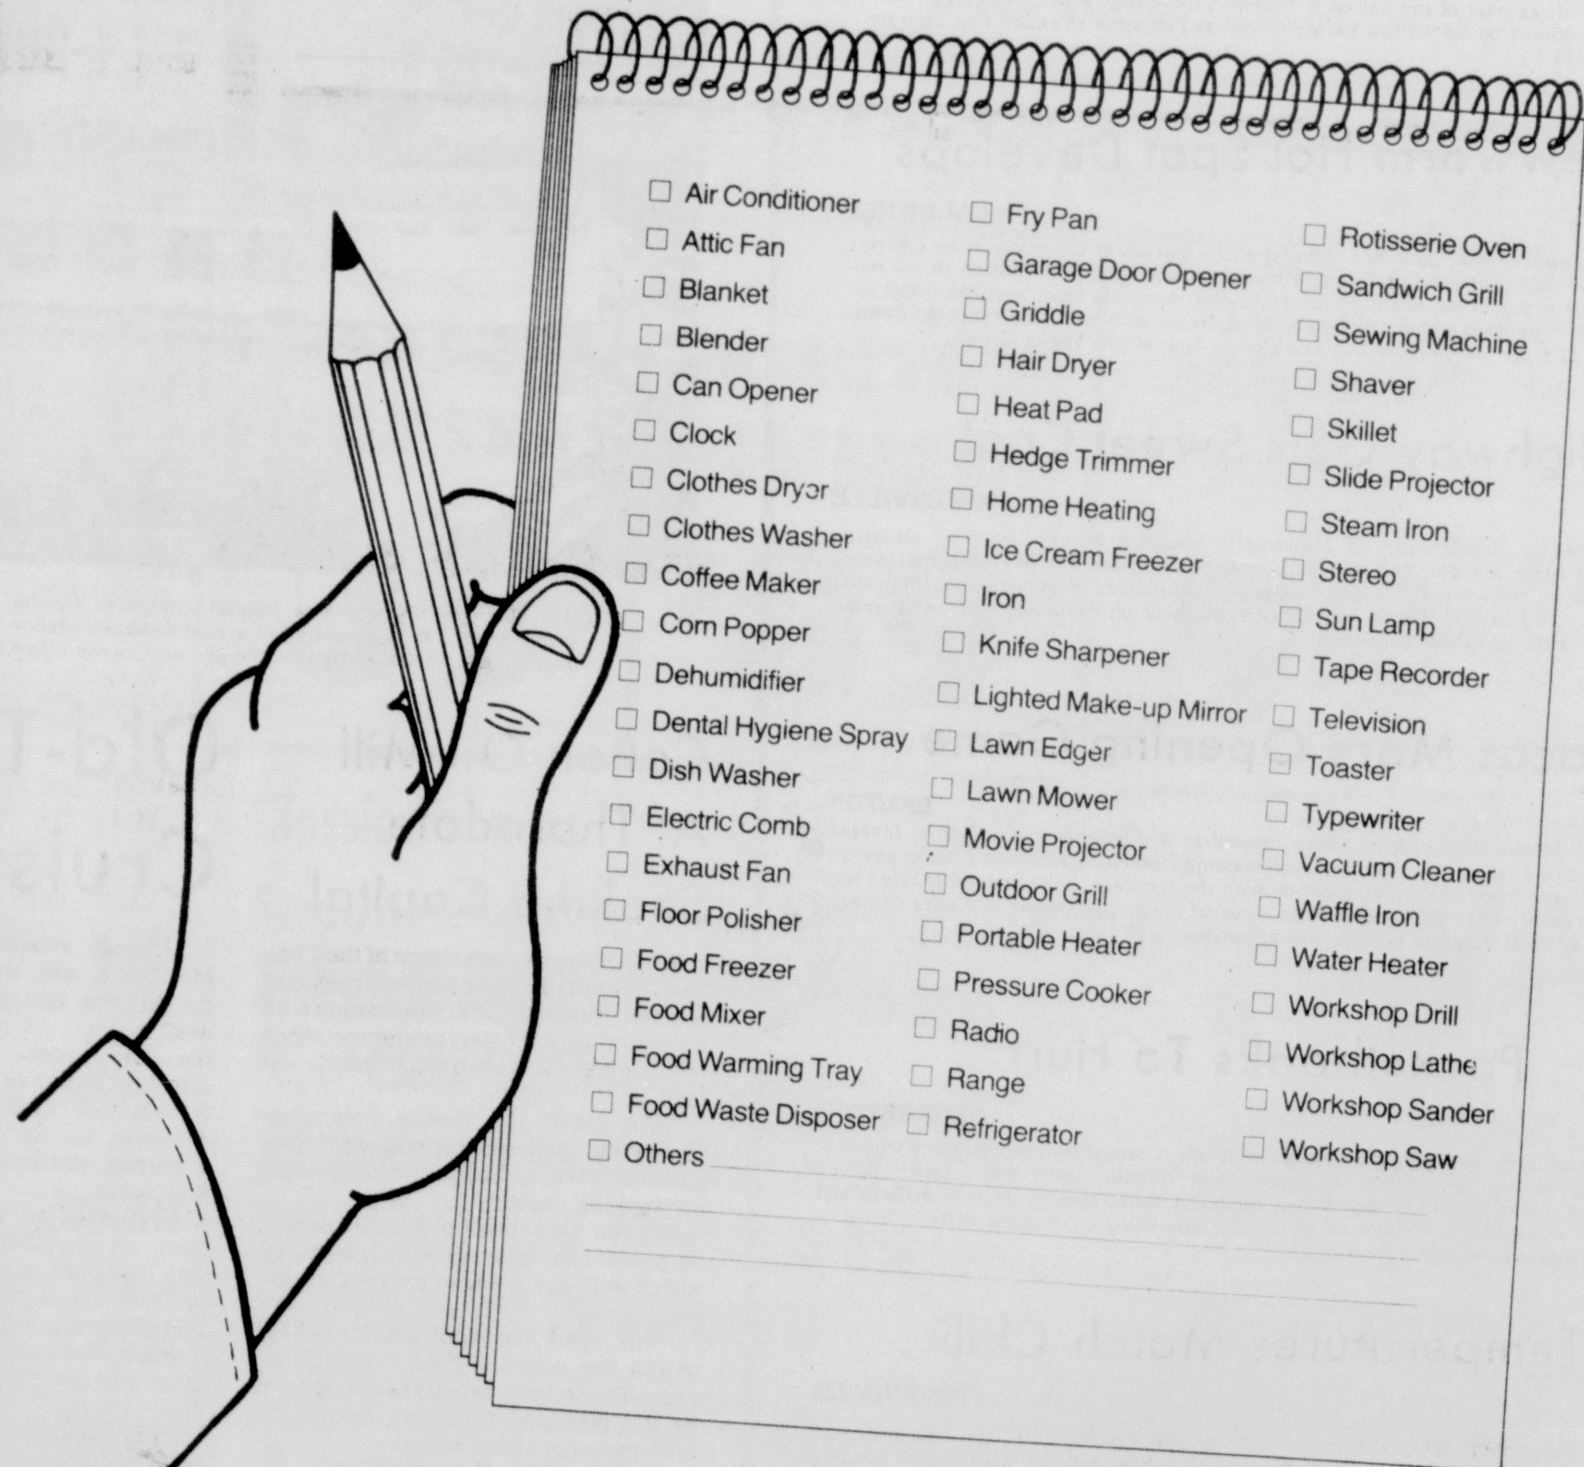

At Pagan there was only one statue of a king, and it depicted him on his knees in prayer to the Buddha.

© NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY

AN EARTHQUAKE severely damaged these two pagodas and many others in Pagan, capital of the first Burmese Empire.

The top of Ananda, left, was broken off. The spire on 210-foot Thabyinnyu, tallest of the pagodas, toppled, and its walls split.

How many do you have?

More than 200 electrical appliances which provide conveniences, comforts and pleasures in and around the home (we've listed only about one-fourth of them) are available today. A recent survey showed that the majority of American homes had at least 15 different electrical appliances.

Whether you have 15 or 50 in your home, we believe that your comparison of the benefits and the cost of your electric service will prove it's one of today's really good buys.

Coffee Prices On Rise After Crippling Frosts

Consumers worried about rising food and fuel costs won't be able to calm their jangled nerves with a soothing cup of coffee.

The price of coffee is expected to go up 40 percent or more in the coming months.

Brazil, which produces a third of the world's coffee, has been hit by the worst cold wave in half a century. About three-fourths of the country's 2.1 billion coffee trees have been destroyed by frost.

Two-Year Shorlage Seen

The trees were damaged nearly down to their roots, reports Camilo Calazans de Magalhaes, president of Brazil's Coffee Institute. Word that coffee crops for the next two years would be less than half their expected size sent coffee prices skyrocketing on world markets.

Coffee has alternated between shortages and surpluses through the years, the National Geographic Society points out. This year's freeze looks worse than in 1969, an industry spokesman says, recalling the last time frost crippled the trees and sent coffee prices soaring.

Prices rose again in 1970 when coffee rust swept plantations in South and Central America. The disease mysteriously had jumped the South Atlantic from Africa two years earlier, and it spread swiftly.

Coffee trees are subject to some 375 ailments. Of 10 that are serious, coffee rust is the most devastating. The epidemic was checked but acres of infected trees had to be destroyed.

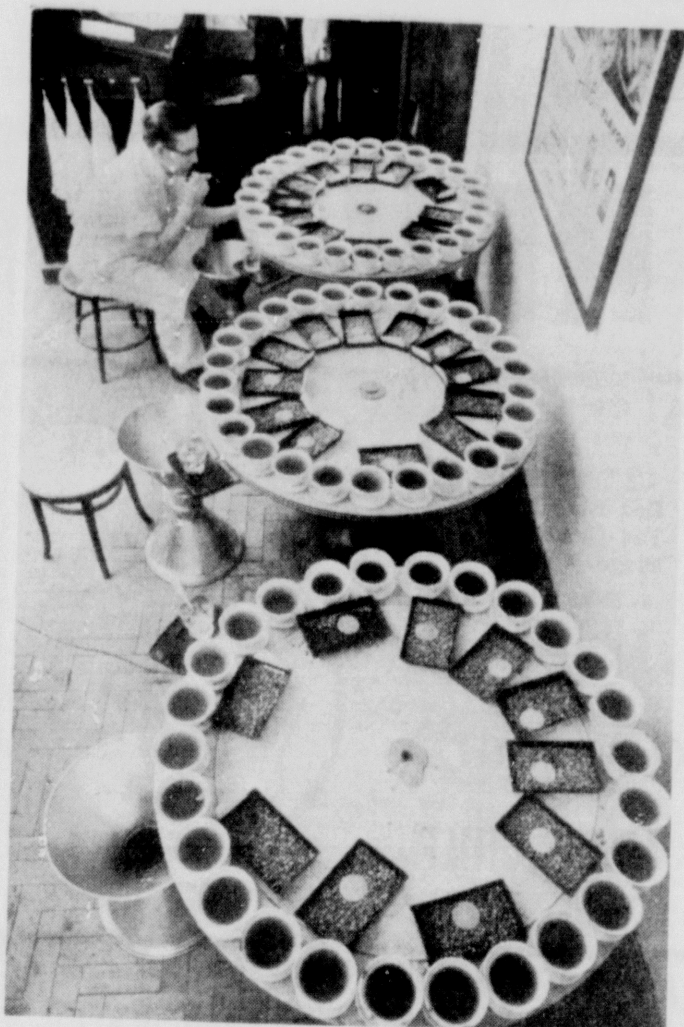

In 1949 a combination of summer drought and an unusually cold September played havoc with Brazil's coffee crop, just after a series of torrential rains and floods wiped out much of the Guatemalan crop.

Brazil sells 60 percent of its coffee to the United States. While Guatemala's output is smaller, it is widely used in blending. The result of this double blow was that Americans paid more for a cup of their favorite brew the following year.

Surpluses Burned, Dumped

Prices fall with equal speed when harvests are too bountiful. In those years, exporting nations have resorted to burning part of their crops or dumping them into the sea to keep the market from plummeting.

In 1931 Brazilians threw tons of coffee into the ocean and burned tons more because the selling prices was too low to ship it to the market. Part of the crop was pressed into bricks and burned in place of coal to drive steam locomotives on Brazil's railroads.

TASTER'S JOB is important in Brazil, the world's largest coffee exporter. Seated at a revolving table so he can test 24 cups in less than a minute, the expert sniffs and sips, but never swallows as he checks aroma and flavor. Tasters may be less busy, as frost has destroyed much of the crop.

MARKET REPORT

Reuters International News Briefs

LONDON

Britain has a new tourist attraction to put beside the bowler hat, Big Ben, and Buckingham Palace. It is inflation, which has caused the pound sterling to decline against major currencies and make the country a tourist bargain. As a result, Britain is attracting more foreign visitors at a time when other European countries are seeing tourist declines.

STOCKHOLM

Disclosures of hefty income tax deductions made by a number of wealthy Swedes, including the finance minister, have severely embarrassed Sweden's ruling Social Democrats, fervent advocates of a classless society. While there has been no suggestion that anything other than legal loopholes have been used, the disclosures have created a furor in Sweden, whose citizens are among the world's most heavily taxed.

CAIRO

As the Fast of Ramadan—the most sacred month in the Moslem calendar—approaches, the Egyptian government is adding to its already strained balance of payments by importing huge amounts of food from abroad. The apparent contradiction stems from the fact that, although Moslems are not allowed to eat or drink from dawn to dusk during Ramadan they compensate by feasting when the sun goes down.

SYDNEY

A rugged, blond-haired actor named Jack Thompson is leading Australian films, and even Australia itself, towards a new international recognition. That's the view of Casey Robinson, a Hollywood screenwriter for nearly half a century who came to Australia to retire and soon found himself involved in the booming local film industry. He is the producer of a new film starring Thompson which startled American friends when he showed rough prints of it in Hollywood.

CORSICA

Ask any mainland Frenchman to name Corsica's greatest folk hero and he will reply unhesitatingly: Napoleon Bonaparte. But for Corsicans the answer is likely to be Pascal Paoli. Paoli's statue stands in village squares. He has given his name to hundreds of streets in this rugged French island. He represents the island identity while Napoleon, a native son, represents the glory of France.

PARIS

Eldridge Cleaver, once one of America's most militant black leaders but now an all but forgotten exile, has turned his revolutionary zeal to male trousers and come up with a cod piece, 1975 style. Cleaver, the former Black Panther leader, writer and ex-convict who jumped parole in California seven years ago, is launching his patented "Cleavers"—as the pants are called—from a garret apartment in the Paris Latin Quarter.

ANKARA

Townfolk in Kastamonu recently celebrated the so-called "hat revolution" launched by Ataturk in this sleepy town 150 miles north of the capital 50 years ago, to introduce western headgear to the new-born Turkish nation. Mustafa Kemal Ataturk, the founder of the modern Turkish republic, walked into Kastamonu August 23, 1925, wearing a Panama hat, shocking the townspeople into amazed silence until his delegation started hesitant applause.

LAGOS

Nigeria's new military rulers have set up a committee to decide whether the crowded, bustling port city of Lagos should remain capital of this vast West African country. The eight-man committee has until the end of the year to decide whether the federal authorities and the Lagos state government should move out of Lagos—at present both federal and state capital. There has been a long controversy over whether it is necessary to move the capital.

CARACAS

While most major oil exporting countries see their oil reserves depleted, Venezuela expects to remain oil-rich for another two centuries. The Orinoco River basin across southwest Venezuela, whose jungle and powerful rivers provided the setting for novels by Venezuelan Romulo Gallegos and Frenchman Jules Verne, contains the world's largest oil reserves.

PARIS

Europe's leading civil aircraft manufacturers are joining forces to try to break a near American monopoly on their home ground. At stake is a 12 billion dollar market for airliners in western Europe alone, or 25 percent of world requirements, to replace more than 2,000 ageing commercial planes, many of them American, in the next decade.

MAIN DISH FOR SPECIAL DINNER PARTY—Texas beef and veal team up to make Scandinavian Meat Balls. Served over cooked rice, they make an impressive but easy to prepare main dish. A tossed green salad and French bread, and poached pear halves topped with ice cream for dessert round out the menu, Texas Department of Agriculture home economists suggest.

SCANDINAVIAN MEAT BALLS

1 lb. ground beef
1/2 lb. ground veal
1/3 cup milk
1/2 cup commercial bread crumbs
1-1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind

1 egg, beaten
Flour
3 Tbsp. lard or drippings
1 can (10-1/2 oz.) condensed mushroom soup
1/2 cup milk
Cooked rice

Pour 1/3 cup milk over bread crumbs. Add beef, veal, salt, nutmeg, lemon rind and egg. Mix thoroughly but lightly. Coat hands with flour; shape meat mixture into 18 balls, allowing approximately 2 tablespoons for each. Brown meat balls in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Combine mushroom soup and 1/2 cup milk, mix well and pour over meat balls. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. Serve over cooked rice. Yield: 6 servings.

Peoples' Festival Plans Set

Plans for the Brazos County Peoples' Festival to be held October 3-4 at College Station, are now underway, according to Mrs. Esther Flores festival director.

Forty countries represented by local ethnic groups have requested booth space, and more requests are expected.

A parade will be held on Oct. 2 starting at Coulter St. in College Station and ending with a street dance at the Manor East Mall parking lot.

Booths will open at the Manor East Mall, at noon Oct. 3 with displays and exototic foreign foods.

According to festival officials, the organization is non-profitmaking and participants are expected to donate booth proceedings to charitable causes.

The purpose of the Peoples' Festival is to prompt awareness of the population composition and cultural backgrounds offered by ethnic groups in Brazos and surrounding counties.

Yoe J.V. Tames Rockdale Tigers, 29-0

Michael Knight, scoring twice, led the Yoe High junior varsity to a sound win over the Rockdale JV in Thursday night grid action, 29-0.

Knight opened the scoring attack when he dashed in from 8 yards out. The Yoemen had driven the pigskin down 72 yards the field before Knight got the call. He was also signaled on the PAT which was good to give the JV a 8-0 lead.

The remainder of the first half proved to be a defensive battle that allowed the Tigers less than 100 yards total offense during the entire evening.

The Yoe JV fence held to be the striking difference with precision tackling throughout the fast moving contest.

In the opening quarter of the second half, Michael plunged in from 8 yards out to give the Yoe JV a comfortable lead. Jon Schmidt got the call on the PAT and with the blocking of the front line the signal was good for 2 more points. The drive started on the Yoe 44. The scoreboard flashed, Yoe 16 - Rockdale 0.

In the fourth stanza the Yoe JV defense punished the Tiger offense with Schmidt crossing the offensive line to block a Tiger punt attempt from their own end zone. It was no trouble for Schmidt to take and give insurance to the Yoe score with the fumble recovery and 6 points. The extra point attempt was unseccessful.

From 7 yards out the Yoe fullback, Schmidt, scrambled in, and on a vicious tackle, the ball was bobbled loose and rolled into the endzone. Yoe offensive guard recovered the fumble and scored for the Yoemen. The score remained true as the Yoemen owned the Tiger field 29-0.

The Yoe JV season record stands at 1-1. The Yoe JV displayed a precision offensive machine along with a traditional Yoe fence to defeat the Rockdale Tigers.

For the standout of the ball game, Coach Paul Hoelscher replied, "The whole team was outstanding, the offense did a great job along with the defense holding the Tigers scoreless."

Sports Roundup

Trojans March Past Cougars

WEST
The Rosebud-Lott Cougars experienced their second whipping in as many weeks, with the West Trojans slaughtering the hapless Cougars 36-0. West gained over 310 yards rushing while the Cougars mounted an offensive attack that left them in the hole for -3 yards. The Rosebud-Lott Cougars were saved by 56 yards in their passing attack. The Trojans wrapped up 28 first downs in the night's work against the Cougars 1.

Milford Bows To Badgers

BUCKHOLTS
The Buckholts Badgers marked their first season win Friday night in front of home town fans with a 19-12 victory in a non-district clash. Danny Krall jumped the line for the Badgers and scored twice and Dudley Hasler tackled on another 6 when he crossed the Bulldog line in the third quarter. The Badgers used their aerial attack to gain yardage with 186 yards coming from the air. The Badger defense was led by Joe Mendoza and Danny Krall.

Eagles Roll Over Troy

ROGERS
The Rogers Eagles rolled up a 14-6 win over the Troy Trojan powerhouse. Rogers Eagles had a hay-day in what was expected to be a battle royal, but the only thing the Eagles battled was their own mistakes that kept them from scoring. Three key fumbles were lost by the Eagles that killed a scoring threat each time. Eagles Elwood McKinzy and David Elkins were in the limelight for the Eagle offense rolling up 171 combined total yards. The Eagles total ground attack was good for 209 yards.

Hornets Sting Bellville, 38-0

CALDWELL
The Hornets stung Bellville 38-0 with Hornet John Ayers providing the offensive punch gaining 147 yards and two touchdowns. Melvin Williams helped his cause by rolling up 136 yards on his offensive crusade. Bellville gained 107 yards of total offense in the lashing of that AA school. Bellville was never in the contest losing four fumbles during the evening and never checking the Hornet offensive machine.

Cubs Tigers Lock At 2 Each

BRENNHAM
A defensive standstill, which turned out to be an ole' fashion head-knocker in Brenham, proved no difference in the Cub strength against the Belton Tigers, with the explosion ending in a 2-2 tie. The Brenham Cubs led the first half with a 2-0 lead but the Tigers defense rose to block a Brenham field goal try with 1:43 remaining in the wet contest.

Yoe Grassburns Bell-Less Tigers, 22-19

Rockdale got more than grassburns Friday night at Yoe Stadium when the Milam County rivals squared off in the battle of the year which proved the Yoemen 'Number One' by a score of 22-19.

A raft of Yoe mistakes, 4 lost fumbles and 1 pass interception, couldn't stop the mighty Yoemen in a game that gained ownership of the Victory Bell for the fifth year in a row.

Rockdale's first touchdown was set up after a Yoe fumble that gave the Tigers ownership of the pigskin on the Yoe 26. A Tiger penalty nullified a first down touchdown.

The taste of the six points was remembered by hungry Martin Stroman, the Tiger fireball quarterback. Scrambling 27 yards for the first touchdown, Stroman became a threat to the undefeated Yoemen.

The PAT for one was good and the Tigers scored for the first time since the '72 season, and took a temporary lead, 7-0.

The Tigers bobbled the ball and with 4:36 remaining in the opening sector, which allowed fine Yoemen field position with the pigskin resting on the Tiger 21.

Four downs later, on a 4th and 3, Michael White, QB, pounded out 10 yards of home turf for the touchdown with 2:34 remaining in the 1st quarter. Joey Mondrik, #40, tied the collision with his educated toe, 7-7.

Within 21 seconds, the cheering of the home crowd turned into silence as respect was again paid to Martin Stroman and his aerial attack that gained 94 yards in the evening battle. Fifty yards was credited to his passing column when he slung a 50 yard bomb to regain the lead 13-7. The PAT for one was wide.

With 9:41 in the second stanza, the Yoemen drew blood on a 2nd down and 2, and regained their lead in the see-saw battle.

Jafus White toted the mail for Yoe which was enough to tie the Tiger's mark, 13-13. Mondrik made the difference with his extra point boot and, for the first time, the Yoemen took control, 14-13.

It wasn't from the lack enthusiasm that the Tigers were down by one in the second half and the striking Tigers never died.

The Tigers gained ownership of the ball deep in Yoe territory on another Yoe fumble. With :29 gleaming, memories of the Newton-Yoe game flashed back, when the Tiger kicking specialist, #73, Mario Garza tried for the field goal. This time the ball fell short of the mark and the Yoemen entertained a 14-13 first half lead.

Excitement continued to explode through the overloaded Yoe Stadium ringing out with vibrations of school tradition. Coming back from half-time, another Yoemen fumble set up the third Tiger score in the third quarter.

Stroman, on a fourth down and 16 decided that the weapon to use was his arm; and it was the right thing to do. The Tigers lead was reinstated after Stroman connected with #42 Don Westley on a 20 yard pass play that broke through the magic line.

The Tigers attempted a 2 point conversion, but Dennis Hollas broke up the pass attempt on the left-side of the grid. The scoreboard read, 19-14, Rockdale.

The precision of the Yoe offensive machine that worked like a Swiss made watch one week prior, began to reform and in the final stanza the balance attack of the Yoemen offense came alive.

Electricity ran through the stands as the Yoe offense began on the longest crusade of the night during the 4th quarter.

The Yoe offense began its drive on the Tiger 32 yard line and ended in a victorious touchdown.

Sixty-eight yards, 13 plays, and 6:18 of clock time was the formula for the third Yoemen touchdown in the closing stanza.

From one yard out Joey Mondrik plunged through on a trap play with 5:42 remaining in the fourth quarter. The score read 20-19. Quarterback Michael White scored 2 on the PAT. Score then read, 22-19.

Dennis Hollas cooled all hopes for the Tigers when he intercepted a mis-guided Stroman pass. The clock ran dead with the Yoemen escaping a hungry den of Rockdale Tigers and claiming their second victory of the season.

There was no doubt that the Rockdale Tigers didn't do their homework prior to the game but the Yoe fence and the offensive ground attack proved more successful than the Tiger aerial attack.

FOR WHOM THE BELL TOLLS? That question was answered Friday night by the Yoemen victory, 22-19. Photo by Mike Peck.

Hunters Can Build Lake Blinds

Hunters will be permitted to build blinds this year on 16 of the lakes in the Fort Worth District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, for the regular goose and duck seasons, according to Colonel Joe H. Sheard, District Engineer.

No anchored or stationary blinds will be allowed for the special teal season. Blinds will not be allowed at Canyon Lake because no waterfowl hunting will be permitted at that lake. Also, stationary or anchored blinds will not be allowed at Lavon Lake because the lake will begin catching runoff in September; but the rise in the water level will not prevent hunting from natural blinds or jump shooting ducks.

Hunters should obtain maps of available hunting areas from the Reservoir Manager's office. Deposits for blind registration will be $50 which will be refunded when the blind has been satisfactorily removed. Applicants will be required to register their blind locations on a control map at the Project Office. Registration for construction of blinds will begin no earlier than October 1, 1975.

Racing Trains Presents Danger

AUSTIN
Railroad crossing. whistle squealing. . . pause. . . avoid that. . . run-down feeling!

The old shaving cream sign series sure put a humorous touch to a pretty serious accident problem. But it got the message across that any motorist who thought he could race a train to a crossing might have more than just a "close shave" to show for his foolishness. If he just happened to finish second in the race, he would be lucky to remain in one piece--if he lived through the experience!

The Railroad Section of the Texas Safety Association has been instrumental in efforts to educate motorists and make them aware of the danger presented at railroad grade crossings. In fact, crossing railroad tracks without stopping when flashing warning signals, bells, or gates are in operation is a violation of the Texas motor vehicle law. Yet, Texans die every year as a result of ignoring warnings of danger, threats of prosecution, or just loss of plain common sense.

TSA's Railroad Section offers this advice for being able to live with railroad crossings:

--Never feel that just because you've never seen a train on a certain crossing or haven't seen one there for some time--that there never will be one. Approach every crossing with care, look in both directions, and be prepared to stop.

--Be especially aware where automatic crossing signals are not present. And don't put yourself in a position where trees, brush, or other obstructions block your view of the tracks in both directions.

--Never stop on the tracks even if the signals start flashing or the gates begin their descent. Continue quickly across the tracks. If your car stalls on the tracks, get everyone out of and away from it. If no train is approaching, you can attempt to remove the car from the tracks.

--Finally don't let the conveniences of air conditioning, stereo, or car radios become your undoing. Turn down the volume and roll down the window when approaching railroad tracks. Train whistles carry a long way, but few sounds can penetrate today's autos, designed for complete quiet from outside noise--and blaring radios and stereos make whistles even harder to hear. So the Texas Safety Association Railroad Transportation Section asks you to turn it down, and don't take a chance on having to listen to a steady diet of harp music!
